Dear Parents and Carers,

I am writing to share a brief update with you regarding a recent national security announcement, and to reassure you about the steps we take every day to keep our school community safe.

The UK's national threat level has recently been raised. This is a country-wide assessment and is not linked to any specific local concern or incident at King Edwin Primary School. Updates of this nature are issued periodically and reflect national intelligence rather than a change to day-to-day life in schools.

I want to reassure you that there are no changes to our normal school routines, and there is no specific risk to our school. However, as always, we take such updates seriously and use them as a reminder to maintain strong safeguarding and site-security practices.

We continue to work closely with our professional security provider, who is fully briefed and monitoring national guidance. Our staff are experienced, vigilant and follow clear procedures around site access, visitor management and supervision. These arrangements are already part of our daily practice and remain firmly in place.

As a school, our priority is - and always will be - the safety, wellbeing and reassurance of our KingEdwinner children and families. We will continue to stay informed, follow official guidance, and take any necessary steps should circumstances change.

Thank you for your continued trust and support. If you have any questions or would like further reassurance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Kind regards,

Andy Callaghan-Wetton - Headteacher
